Hyres, 2026-01-15 Protest and Pedagogy traces how and in what ways high school teachers and students sustained and propelled the Black freedom struggle in Charlottesville Virginia It centers the relationship between protest and pedagogy within classrooms and the surrounding community of Charlottesville The story spotlights the resistance of Black teachers and students in the American high school throughout the nation during the twentieth century Rather than act simply as passive participants in the Black freedom struggle or outright opponents Black high school teachers and their students this book argues employed a variety of organizing and protest strategies to make schools and communities more just and equitable spaces Black teachers pedagogical approaches in the classroom underpinned protest within and beyond schools At the same time Black teacher and student organizing activism and protest led to pedagogical reforms in classrooms and schools Schooling the Movement Derrick P. Alridge, Jon N. Hale, Tondra L. Loder-Jackson, 2023-04-20 A fresh examination of teacher activism during the civil rights movement Southern Black educators were central contributors and activists in the civil rights movement They contributed to the movement through their classrooms schools universities and communities Drawing on oral history interviews and archival research Schooling the Movement examines the pedagogical activism and vital contributions of Black teachers throughout the Black freedom struggle By illuminating teachers activism during the long civil rights movement the editors and contributors connect the past with the present contextualizing teachers longstanding role as advocates for social justice Schooling the Movement moves beyond the prevailing understanding that activism was defined solely by litigation and direct action forms of protest The contributors broaden our conceptions of what it meant to actively take part in or contribute to the civil rights movement Religion and Film S. Brent Plate, 2017-09-05 Religion and cinema share a capacity for world making ritualizing mythologizing and creating sacred time and space Through cinematography mise en scene editing and other production activities film takes the world out there and refashions it Religion achieves similar ends by setting apart particular objects and periods of time telling stories and gathering people together for communal actions and concentrated focus The result of both cinema and religious practice is a re-created world a world of fantasy a world of ideology a world we long to live in or a world we wish to avoid at all costs Religion and Film introduces readers to both religious studies and film studies by focusing on the formal similarities between cinema and religious practices and on the ways they each re create the world Explorations of film show how the cinematic experience relies on similar aesthetic devices on which religious rituals have long relied sight sound the taste of food the body and communal experience Meanwhile a deeper understanding of the aesthetic nature of religious rituals can alter our understanding of film production Utilizing terminology and theoretical insights from the study of religion as well as the study of film Religion and Film shows that by paying attention to the ways films are constructed we can shed new light on the ways religious myths and rituals are constructed and vice versa This thoroughly revised and expanded new edition is designed to appeal to the needs of courses in religion as well as film departments In addition to two new chapters this edition has been restructured into three distinct sections that offer students and instructors theories and methods for thinking about cinema in ways that more fully connect film studies with religious studies
