Fcat Focus Answers:

Focus and Background in Romance Languages Andreas Dufter, Daniel Jacob, 2009-06-18 Focus background structure has taken center stage in much current theorizing about sentence prosody syntax and semantics. However both the inventory of focus expressions found cross-linguistically and the interpretive consequences associated with each of these continue to be insufficiently described. This volume aims at providing new observations on the availability and the use of focus markings in Romance languages. In doing so it documents the plurality of research on focus in Spanish, Portuguese, French, Italian and Romanian. Topics covered include constituent fronting and clefting, the position of subjects and focus particles, clitic doubling of objects and information packaging in complex sentences. In addition some contributions explore focus background structure from acquisitional and diachronic angles while others adopt a comparative perspective studying differences between individual Romance and Germanic languages. Therefore this volume is of interest to a broad audience within linguistics including syntacticians, semanticists and historical linguists.

Minimal Answers Ana Lúcia Santos, 2009-03-11 This book offers a new contribution to the debate concerning the acquisition of the syntax-discourse interface. It provides evidence that children acquiring European Portuguese have a very early ability to spontaneously produce VP ellipsis as answers to yes/no questions. It is also argued that the distribution of VP ellipsis in European Portuguese including its co-existence with Null Complement Anaphora supports the hypothesis that the identification condition on ellipsis is derivable from some innate knowledge of the syntax-discourse interface. Answers to yes/no questions also provide evidence concerning children's interpretation of questions containing a cleft or the operator 's only'. The analysis of spontaneous production is complemented by a comprehension experiment showing that children have two problems in the interpretation of these questions: i) they do not understand that the cleft and 's' introduce a presupposition and ii) they start with a default focus assignment strategy and may not access other focus interpretations.

A Grammar of Lavukaleve Angela Terrill, 2003 The series builds an extensive collection of high quality descriptions of languages around the world. Each volume offers a comprehensive grammatical description of a single language together with fully analyzed sample texts and, if appropriate, a word list and other relevant information which is available on the language in question. There are no restrictions as to language family or area and although special attention is paid to hitherto undescribed languages, new and valuable treatments of better known languages are also included.
