Fall 2012

Censorship: What it means to me and all of America

First read and respond to the article “What is Censorship” by the GILC posted under “Handouts” on the class website. In a full 2 page essay, respond to the article and relay experiences that have helped you form your attitudes toward censorship. Perhaps you haven’t thought about censorship before? It’s time to think about it now and you should spend some time talking to respected peers, friends, and family members about censorship. Through those discussions, and further research if needed, begin forming your own opinion.

You may find it helpful to recall a time you decided to “self-censor” or a time you decided to exercise your right as a citizen to “freedom of speech” and chose to share your opinions. Often, our decisions to censor ourselves or share our opinions begin a chain of events that cause us to appreciate our freedom of speech or contemplate censorship.

Be thoughtful of your audience in your organization and thorough description by using examples and narratives. Remember to come to some conclusion as to why your view of censorship is significant to others and the concept of free speech.

Remember, the first essay is always an opportunity to “show off” your writing skills for your college English Instructor. Allow yourself to be creative!

Follow all essay format instructions and review the grading rubric (both are included in your ENG 102 course description) to gain a better understanding of how this essay will be graded.
Good Luck!

With four or more long years of college life ahead of them, it's essential that students have some help to make the most of their time. This book explains how, featuring peers who talk directly and personally to students. Here, hundreds of successful college grads explain how to get top grades, find the right major, manage time, stay motivated, avoid stress, seek out the best teachers and courses, form important relationships, and graduate happily at the top of the class. Short, pithy chapters cover such topics as writing a good paper, research, and the college library, taking advantage of college support services, balancing athletics and academics, navigating modern college technology, and more. The Heath Guide to Writing the Research Paper Gerald P. Mulderig, 1994-01-02 Teaching Academic Writing in European Higher Education Lennart Björk, Gerd Bräuer, L. Rienecker, Peter Stray, Jörgensen, 2005-12-30 DAVID R. RUSSELL English Department of Iowa State University U.S.A. I was fortunate to attend as a visitor from the U.S. the first European Association for the Teaching of Academic Writing (EATAW) conference in 2001 at Groningen. I was struck by the similarities in the challenges higher education faces on both sides of the Atlantic in terms of developing students' academic writing and students learning through writing. It is indeed an international problem. But I was equally struck by the profound differences in responding to these challenges among institutions, disciplines, and even within disciplines. The essays in this extraordinary volume address a growing demand for help with academic writing on the part of students and academic staff alike. And they do so in ways that bring fresh approaches not only to Europeans who have only recently begun to study academic writing but also to researchers and academic staff in the U.S. where we have a century-old tradition of attention to the problem but are much in need of these fresh approaches. Academic writing has become a problem in higher education all around the world because higher education sits smack between two contradictory pressures. On one end, far more students and far more diverse students come streaming into higher education, bringing in a far greater diversity of linguistic resources. Often interpreted as standards are falling, as Frank Haacke and Tente point out. The College Buzz Book, 2006-03-23 In this new edition, Vault publishes the entire surveys of current students and alumni at more than 300 top undergraduate institutions, as well as the schools' responses to the comments. Each 4 to 5 page entry is composed of insider comments from students and alumni, as well as the schools' responses to the comments. McClure's Magazine, 1914 Brunonian, 1892 Essays on literature.
