The Kelly Capital Growth Investment Criterion Leonard C. MacLean, Edward O. Thorp, W. T. Ziemba, 2011. This volume provides the definitive treatment of fortune's formula or the Kelly capital growth criterion as it is often called. The strategy is to maximize long run wealth of the investor by maximizing the period by period expected utility of wealth with a logarithmic utility function. Mathematical theorems show that only the log utility function maximizes asymptotic long run wealth and minimizes the expected time to arbitrary large goals. In general, the strategy is risky in the short term but as the number of bets increase, the Kelly bettor's wealth tends to be much larger than those with essentially different strategies. So most of the time the Kelly bettor will have much more wealth than these other bettors but the Kelly strategy can lead to considerable losses a small percent of the time. There are ways to reduce this risk at the cost of lower expected final wealth using fractional Kelly strategies that blend the Kelly suggested wager with cash. The various classic reprinted papers and the new ones written specifically for this volume cover various aspects of the theory and practice of dynamic investing. Good and bad properties are discussed as are fixed mix and volatility induced growth strategies. The relationships with utility theory and the use of these ideas by great investors are featured.

Best Practices in Investment for Development, 2009. The Series provides practical advice and case studies of best policy practice for attracting and benefiting from foreign direct investment (FDI) in line with national development strategies. It draws on the experiences gained in United Nations Conference's on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) capacity and institution building work in developing countries and countries with economies in transition. The Investment Advisory consists of Series A and Series B. This Series B describes and analyses the policies and approaches of two countries with experience in private sector solutions to improve roads infrastructure. Whilst one of the cases is a developed country, the aim of the study is to elucidate best practices/experiences that can give guidance to policy makers in developing countries.
