

SELF NAVIGATING LINE TRACER ROBOT

Introduction

This paper describes the self-navigating line tracer robot it's a machine that can follow the path. The path can be visible like a line the robot will follow the line. This Project is fully automated and more flexible. The route of the robot is predefined and it is visible like a black line on a white surface or this can be invisible like a magnetic force. This robot can be design with the knowledge of mechanical, computer and electrical components the project is executed using software components, but this project is execute using simulation software that is Multisim. This simulation software is user friendly and components i used here is OPAMP, resistors, sensors, diode, transistor, Capacitor and heat gate. The Results of this simulation should be like, when left side sensor comes to the path the robot turns to the left side and when both left and right sensor sense then the robot moves to forward. If the robot comes to the black line, then robot stops. The below picture explains the exact execution of line tracer robot.

Aim

The aim of this project is to design the self-navigating line tracer robot that can move in flat visible surface. Instead of hardware this design is designed using Multisim simulation software. The control section is designed using transistor OPAMP and sensors. These components are used to control the speed of the left and right motor.

Objectives

This Project is not designed to work in professional level but the help of some professional strategies and exact planning, the technical requirement can be reduced.

Digital control methods for a line following robot Steffen Block,2003-12-09 Inhaltsangabe Abstract The project aim was to a built a robot controlled by a PIC microcontroller to follow a line completely autonomously and as quickly as possible The robot meets the requirements from the RoboRama Contest followed a T shape course and obtained more safety features Different kinds of design features and digital algorithms were developed and tested in order to achieve the best results Applied project management techniques and used key skills guaranteed the successful completion of the project in the design and construction of hardware and software technologies The hardware was based on a block structure with infrared sensors at the front of the vehicle Their analogue signals were transferred to digital logic with a comparator This information used a PIC 16F84A microcontroller to control the movement and direction of the robot with pulse width modulation PWM All parts were mounted on a chassis implemented with a mechanical construction set Batteries of 9V provided the necessary power supply Adjustments were done through iterative steps to come to the final result of the robot system The main adapted design feature was the motor and steering system First of all a separate servomotor for the steering and a single DC motor for the forward movement was fixed Through implemented and first testing steps this resolution lacked the required performance Hence the design changed to two DC motors which offered a satisfactory solution The electronic circuit was designed with the computer aided design tool Proteus and executed as a strip line board The software algorithm development started with the truth table to reduce the possible events from thirty two to the eleven applied conditions The generated flowchart gave the program a structure and applied the truth table decision in different PWM generations Finally the software was written in assembler language and implemented on the PIC Inhaltsverzeichnis Table of Contents iTitlei iiAbstractii iiiAcknowledgementsiii ivList of Figuresiv vList of Tablesvi viList of Abbreviationsvii viiList of Symbolsix viiiTable of Contentsx 1 Introduction1 1 1Project Aims2 1 2RoboRama Rules2 2 Specification and Analysis5 2 1Specification of the project5 2 1 1Research and definition for the project5 2 1 2Resources management7 2 2Project time plan8 3 Design of the robot9 3 1Design of the electronic hardware11 3 1 1Sensors OPD 70911 3 1 2Comparator Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1994 Congressional Record United States.
