

HUMAN EVOLUTION: NOTES

THE PLACE OF HUMANS IN THE ANIMAL KINGDOM

- Humans are mammals, belonging to the class Mammalia, because their bodies are covered in hair and they suckle their young. All mammals also have three ossicles (bones) in the middle ear.
- Humans are classified in the class Mammalia, order Primates. Primates include humans, apes, orangutans, gorillas and chimpanzees.
- The order Primates includes the superfamily Hominoidea that is subdivided into two families, i.e. Hominidae (Great Apes and humans) and Hylobatidae (gibbons).
- Family Hominidae is divided into two subfamilies, i.e. Ponginae and Homininae.
- Some scientists divide the subfamily Homininae into two more tribes, i.e. Hominini and Gorillini.
- Humans, gorillas and chimpanzees fall under the subfamily Homininae and the orangutans are part of Ponginae.
- Humans belong to the genus Homo.

All members of the family Hominidae are known as hominids (Great Apes and humans). However, certain sources refer to hominids as only humans and their fossil ancestors (the Great Apes excluded). A new term, hominins, is currently used by scientists, which refers to humans and their fossil ancestors.

NOTE: In this study guide we will use the term hominins for bipedal humans and their fossil ancestors. The term hominid will be used when reference is made to the Great Apes as well as humans and their fossil ancestors. Great Apes are also often referred to as African Apes.

Evolutionary path of the family Hominidae

Individuals of the genera Ardipithecus and Australopithecus as well as early Homo-species are considered fossil ancestors of modern humans. Modern humans are classified in the genus and species Homo sapiens. These three genera have ape-like as well as human characteristics and they are sometimes referred to as 'ape-men'. See p. 9 for a more detailed discussion of these three genera.

Wiley-Blackwell Student Dictionary of Human Evolution Bernard Wood,2015-05-04 Not so long ago all a student studying human evolution needed was a familiarity with the relatively sparse fossil record and what limited information there was about the context of the sites a basic knowledge of gross anatomy and archeology and an understanding of simple analytical methods Times have changed The fossil record has grown exponentially imaging techniques have advanced dramatically quantitative methods have burgeoned and molecular biology has revolutionized our understanding of genetics evolutionary history and development Added to this are advances in the archeological biological and earth sciences that help interpret the context of the fossil evidence and reconstruct behavior But presently there is nowhere students of human evolution can easily find out about topics as disparate as ameloblast Coopers Cave daily secretion rate the effect hypothesis homeobox genes in isolation phylogenetically independent contrasts quantitative trait locus semicircular canals and tephrrostratigraphy The Wiley Blackwell Student Dictionary of Human Evolution contains upwards of 2500 entries all drafted with an eye on the student user It is an indispensable source for those studying human evolution Human Evolution
