Springer Handbook of Marine Biotechnology Se-Kwon Kim, 2015-01-21 This Springer Handbook provides for the first time a complete and consistent overview over the methods applications and products in the field of marine biotechnology. A large portion of the surface of the earth ca 70% is covered by the oceans. More than 80% of the living organisms on the earth are found in aquatic ecosystems. The aquatic systems thus constitute a rich reservoir for various chemical materials and biochemical processes. Edited by a renowned expert with a longstanding experience and including over 60 contributions from leading international scientists the Springer Handbook of Marine Biotechnology is a major authoritative desk reference for everyone interested or working in the field of marine biotechnology and bioprocessing from undergraduate and graduate students over scientists and teachers to professionals. Marine biotechnology is concerned with the study of biochemical materials and processes from marine sources that play a vital role in the isolation of novel drugs and to bring them to industrial and pharmaceutical development. Today a multitude of bioprocess techniques is employed to isolate and produce marine natural compounds novel biomaterials or proteins and enzymes from marine organisms and to bring them to applications as pharmaceuticals cosmeceuticals or nutraceuticals or for the production of bioenergy from marine sources. All these topics are addressed by the Springer Handbook of Marine Biotechnology. The book is divided into ten parts. Each part is consistently organized so that the handbook provides a sound introduction to marine biotechnology from historical backgrounds and the fundamentals over the description of the methods and technology to their applications but it can also be used as a reference work. Key topics include Marine flora and fauna Tools and methods in marine biotechnology Marine genomics Marine microbiology Bioenergy and biofuels Marine bioproducts in industrial applications Marine bioproducts in medical and pharmaceutical applications and many more.

Assessing Health-related Quality of Life of Children Pei Wang, Shunping Li, Jing Wu, Nan Luo, 2024-02-20 Assessing health related quality of life HRQOL of Children has been a popular topic in recent years worldwide. However there are several issues gaps in this research area which need to be addressed. For instance previous studies on HRQOL of Children populations have normally used HRQOL instruments designed for adults. These measurements may not be suitable for children as they are in a series of cognitive developmental stages and have different perspectives towards the relative importance of HRQOL dimensions. In order to tackle this issue and to accurately measure children's HRQOL a set of dedicated HRQOL instruments should be first developed and validated. The validated instruments could then be applied to the population measuring their HRQOL. In addition the HRQOL information collected could be translated into health utility score if it is measured by utility instruments e.g. EQ 5D Y for the population. Moreover the relevant studies on these issues is
