

Feedback Mechanisms

How do organisms regulate complex systems through chemical interactions?

Why?

The heating system of a house needs to keep the temperature constant. If the heat goes too cold, then the heat automatically turns on to warm the house. The heat stops when the preset temperature is reached. This is an example of a feedback mechanism. Organisms use many feedback mechanisms to either maintain or modify important chemical species. This could happen at a molecular level to coordinate the function of a single enzyme or it could happen throughout the body to regulate the organism's internal temperature.
