

"Our FC Center Housing Complex project would have taken at least four months if we had used the old system. Despite unfamiliarity with AutoCAD Civil 3D, we completed the project in three months, so I think we can expect to reduce our time expenditure by at least 20–30 percent."

Seung-chul Chung
Section Head,
Urban Development Department
Hyundai Engineering

Pioneers in urban planning.

Hyundai Engineering increases productivity, minimizes repetitive tasks, and produces more creative designs with AutoCAD® Civil 3D® software, the comprehensive solution for civil engineering design, drafting, and project management.

Project Summary

Established more than 30 years ago in South Korea, Hyundai Engineering has grown to become one of the world's leading engineering, procurement, construction, and management firms. In fact, Engineering News-Record magazine recently ranked Hyundai as 79th in its list of Top 200 International Design Firms. Much of that success can be attributed to the talent and dedication of the firm's highly skilled engineers and business professionals. Since 1974, they have completed an impressive array of civil engineering projects—including chemical plants, energy generators, and general industrial plants—and provided extensive urban planning and national land development services. To ensure continued growth and profitability, Hyundai recently sought innovative new ways to improve productivity and speed project completion. That's why the firm adopted AutoCAD® Civil 3D® software, a comprehensive product for the design, drafting, and management of a wide range of civil engineering project types, including site development, subdivision design, local road rehabilitation, and highway design.

The Challenge

For its pilot Civil 3D project, Hyundai chose the FC Center Housing Complex project. "Even though the project's scale is relatively small, the dimension calculations for land acquisition must be made for each parcel because there are various landowners in the planned area," says Seung-chul Chung, Section Head of the Urban Planning Department at Hyundai Engineering.

Rugged Landscapes

The mountainous landscape posed additional challenges. "For example, much of the land in our country is composed of mountains, and the geographic features are very steep," says Seung-chul Chung. Therefore, it is essential to perform various topographic analyses prior to any urban development planning, including taking disasters such as floods into consideration.

Time-Consuming, Repetitive Tasks

"It can take a long time—even longer when there are requests for adjustment," says Seung-chul Chung. "Our existing 2D solution was simply not effective enough at handling things like slope analysis, altitude analysis, and site arrangement. It required a lot of repetitive work."
