Required Texts:

Aschrod, Rose B., Charles R. Cooper, and Alison M. Warriner. Reading Critically Writing Well: A Reader and Guide. 9th ed. Bedford: Boston, 2011.

Supplementary Texts:

(provided by Randolph-Henry High School as needed)

Other Materials:

Loose-leaf paper
Storage device
3-subject notebook (3-ring is best)
Access to the Internet and a Word Processing program

Prerequisites:

A student enrolled in Dual Enrollment English should have a "B" average in previous high school English courses and should have produced a satisfactory writing sample approved by SVCC instructors. A minimum SOL score of 450 is recommended for both Literature/Research and Writing.

Attendance:

Regular attendance is required. Group editing of other student's papers and class discussions will also be required. Because of the emphasis on group interaction and learning by doing, you cannot be given credit for classwork which is missed. According to SVCC's policy, missing more than 20 percent of class time for any reason (excused or unexcused) can result in student failure. In addition, SVCC will follow the RHHS attendance policy in this class. Strict enforcement of attendance policies is typical of all colleges and is particularly appropriate with a class such as English 111, which places emphasis on learning through doing and group interaction. For much class work, there can be no "makeup" work, and absences AND tardies will be penalized.

Late Work:

All work is expected to be turned in at the beginning of class on which the assignment is due unless other arrangements have been specified in advance. Late work is accepted but will be penalized by receiving only ½ credit.

Honor Code:

Please remember the RHHS Honor Code, which parallels SVCC's. Plagiarism, or any other Honor Code violation, will result in a zero. All papers must be pledged. Please ask if you are unclear about any aspect of the Honor Code. All work submitted for evaluation must be original work. While cooperative learning is encouraged, students must write and correct their own papers. In peer groups, students can discuss ideas and ask readers to identify strengths and weaknesses, but the actual revision must be your own responsibility. Plagiarism is a very serious offense and may result in failure of this course.

Disability Act:

Southside Virginia Community College complies with the provisions set forth in the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990 and in Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. The College's commitment to equal educational opportunities for students with disabilities includes providing reasonable accommodations to qualified students with documented disabilities. Any student who may need an accommodation based on the potential impact of a disability should contact Melissa Wood, Counselor for Special Populations, at 434-736-2070 or at melissa.wood@southside.edu to establish eligibility and to coordinate reasonable accommodations. The Disability Services Office is located in Room 35E in the Student Services department. Additional information may be found at <http://www.southside.edu/student/advancing/disability.asp>

Course Description:

This course is designed to enable the student to write effectively for college courses and career objectives. This course guides students in learning writing as a process: understanding audience and purpose, exploring ideas and information, composing, revising, and editing. It supports writing by integrating experiences in thinking, reading, listening, and speaking. Upon successful completion of this course, the student should be able to do the following:

1. Read and analyze a variety of prose, poetry, and fiction.

Both Swords and Ploughshares Linda Martz,Ineke Bockting,2015 This collection of essays examines interactions of war peace and religion in the United States a country where religious faith was and still is often deeply felt and widely held where faith has provided a set of values to uphold with fervor or to transgress in protest and where religion has been used to legitimize both armed violence and passive resistance These essays analyze the mythos of America as a place of religious freedom yet one imbued with a socially imposed civil religion and underpinned by a heavy presumption of Protestant dominance With subjects ranging from the War of Independence to the early 21st century the contributions to this volume focus on a variety of historical and chronological circumstances in order to consider what concrete tangible outcomes what artifacts were produced by the interface of war peace and religion the swords and ploughshares of the title This volume thus presents a variety of often multifaceted responses that reflect its interdisciplinary scope Some contributions refer to fine art pieces including statues paintings and murals and others to works of literature theology or public speaking Some of these interfaces were performed on stage or in film while yet others were heard on the radio or read in newspapers or journals Some of the essays gathered here concern individuals working through the meaning of armed conflict in terms of their own personal faith while others examine the impact of such conflicts on a larger scale as with whole faith communities or in the shaping of national or foreign policy The first part Communities looks at interfaces that served to structure a whole community The second Margins examines instances where the relationship between religion and war and peace has occupied a more marginal space within a faith community The final section turns this interface Outward situating it away from

American soil or noting how foreign war shaped the spirituality of those returning      Sino-Pakistani Relations Filippo Boni,2019-08-08 This book analyses the relationship between Pakistan and China in the post 9 11 period against the backdrop of Pakistan s domestic politics and proposes that the major source of continuity in the ties between the two countries is represented by the military The evolution and continuity of Sino Pakistani relations are explored through three timely case studies the port of Gwadar where Chinese investment well pre dates the advent of the Belt and Road Initiative the China Pakistan Economic Corridor the flagship project of China s global ambitions and how the relationship between China and Pakistan has played out in Afghanistan The book assesses the extent of military influence in Pakistan s relations with China throughout the last 20 years in several key decision making areas ranging from internal security to elite recruitment By looking at the extent of military prerogatives in Pakistan s domestic politics the book reveals how the major source of continuity in the ties between the two countries was represented by the role that the military has played overtime While since the announcement of the BRI elected representative have gained some leverage in decision making the military has invariably been the main port of call even under a civilian dispensation A novel approach to the study of Sino Pakistani relations this book will be of interest to academics working on South Asian Politics Chinese Politics and International Relations Sino Pakistani relations civil military ties and China s role in Asia including the One Belt One Road initiative
